

DEFINITIONS --DEEP6FRAUDclosure TYPES

TYPE # 1 SUSPECT--“DEEP-6”™ KRYPTONITE-RMBS –
The Prophetic Lender (Group A)

Property is owned by an entity that did not exist at the time the docket was filed. It's a miracle ! This defies the laws of physics. Albert Einstein would be impressed.

TYPE # 2 SUSPECT--“DEEP-6”™ KRYPTONITE-RMBS –
The Prophetic Lender (Group B)

The WannaBees. The RMBS was created in the same year, or the year prior to the foreclosure filing. Such busy bees. Such bad luck.

TYPE # 3 SUSPECT--“DEEP-6”™ KRYPTONITE-RMBS –
The Prophetic Lender with access to a Back-To-The-Future Machine

The RMBS goes back in history to acquire property already in foreclosure. That's an oxymoron since investors in the RMBS seek a predictable, steady income stream. An asset in default does not fit that criteria. DUH !

Type 3 cases are best detected by a careful reconstruction and close scrutiny of the entire litigation history and fragmented/distorted chain of title.

WARNING - Type 3 cases can and do mask as Type 5 cases

TYPE # 4 SUSPECT--“DEEP-6”™ KRYPTONITE-RMBS – Highly Suspect

Court Dockets for the years 2000-2010, whether RMBS or not. What has taken so long ?
HINT- “Sanitizing” necessitates a time delay.

TYPE # 5 SUSPECT--“DEEP-6”™ KRYPTONITE-RMBS – Somewhat suspect.

RMBS with court dockets for years 2011-present. Keep in mind that Type 3 cases hide in these weeds !

TYPE # 6 SUSPECT--“DEEP-6”™ KRYPTONITE-RMBS – Generic suspect
All other. Some misfit component. Something fishy.
